Community Celebration of Life Services

(Southwest, Michigan) September 15, 2008 - Twice each year, Hospice at Home offers community Celebration of Life services. These services honor patients and families served by the organization, as well as community members who have died in the previous six months. These non-denominational programs are open to the public with a simple reception following the service.

"Our Celebration of Life services give our families and the community a special way to remember their loved ones," states Lisa Bartoszek, Director of Bereavement Services at Hospice at Home and Director of Lory's Place.

"Patients are honored, as friends and families are welcome to bring memory items and share unique stories about their loved ones. We welcome anyone to join us and participate in this very meaningful event to celebrate and remember loved ones."

Hospice at Home is the non-profit community hospice focusing on the patient and family regardless of the patients' diagnosis, treatment choices, life expectancy, or ability to pay. It provides quality care to people adjusting to living with a serious illness, to people facing death, to people anticipating the death of a loved one, or to people healing their grief after the death of a loved one. Hospice at Home places an emphasis on the emotional, social, and spiritual needs of those whom need care and those receiving support services. Serving Berrien, Cass, Van Buren, and Allegan Counties, the care is coordinated by a team of physicians, nurses, home health aides, social workers, spiritual care counselors, bereavement coordinators, and trained volunteers. Extending this care, Lory's Place, a bereavement and education center that builds hope and strength for every grieving family, is available to anyone in Southwest Michigan or Northern Indiana.
